what he has done in administering the hilippine islands. [Applause.] For fourteen months it has been part of my business to see how the work there was done. I am not speaking exaggeratingly; I am speaking literally, telling the bare, naked truth, when I say that never during that time has a question of party politics en-tered into even the smallest action of those in control of the Philippine islands. "Now, my fellow-Americans, we cannot afford to have the honor of the Nation in any way smirched in connection with our gour greeting to General Wright. [Ap-dependencies. [Applause.] We cannot af plause.] I can well understand how inford to have it smirched anywhere. If we wrong ourselves here at home, we are to blame and we pay the penalty, but if we allow wrong in connection with the islands not only the islands suffer but an indelible stigma of shame comes to the American name. I am earnestly desirous that the administration of the Philippine islands shall be put and kept upon such a plane of patriotic efficiency that no change will be made in it owing to any change of party here at home. Party feeling should, of course, stop at the water line. The inestimable service rendered by Governor Wright in the Philippine islands has been because he has so conducted the government of the islands as to make it not only of signal benefit to the islands, but of signal honor to every citizen of our country [applause]; that he has so handled himself that he has so handled the administration of affairs as to make us feel a justifiable confidence that hereafter the storms of party politics in the United States shall never ouch the government of the Philippine Islands, and that whatever changes of administration there are here in the Union, there shall not be a ripple of change in the course of conduct in the Philippines marked out by Governor Wright and his associates. [Applause.] The man of whom that can truthfully be said is a man entitled to honor from his fellow-countrymen; and of Governor Wright it can be truthfully said." [Cheers and applause.]

ADDRESS TO NEGROES.

Rousing Reception Accorded the President and Gen. Wright.

The reception tendered by the colored people was truly remarkable. General Wright earned their undying gratitude during the two yellow fever epidemics two as men and women interested in the honor years ago by remaining here when most of our common country. We owe him of the whites had fled, and seeing that the sick were cared for. The hall was packed, galleries and pit, to the point of suffocation, and the whole spirit of the proceeding breathed love and admiration for their friend. General Wright, in addressing the colored audience, talked chiefly of their future, telling them of the difficult prob-

The President's reception when he was introduced beggars description. The colored people became perfectly frantic, jumping up and down in their enthusiasm and yelling themselves hoarse. The President

"Mr. Chairman, General Wright and you, my fellow-citizens-I am indeed glad to have been here to witness and to share in evitable it was that he should succeed in the post of high responsibility he has occupied outside of our contry when he has had the character that has entitled him to the profound respect and regard of all his fellow-citizens. [Cheers and applause.] General Wright has succeeded in the Philippines by displaying just those qualities which each one of us must in a lesser degree display if we are to be good citizens here at home. [Applause.] There is nothing peculiar in government. Good government consists in applying the old humeveryday, commonplace virtues which all of us learn, but which all of us do not practice. [Applause. If a man is fearless, is honest, has consideration for others and is gifted with the crowning graces of common sense he is going to do fairly well. [Applause.] "We all of us tend to rise or fall together. If any set of us goes down the whole Nation sags a little. If any of us raise ourselves a little, then by just so much the nation as a whole is raised. Every man who does markedly good work in one sphere of government by just so much helps all of us and elevates all of us. It is a great thing when we can point to any American who has rendered signal service in any position. It makes all of us a little better Americans, makes us feel spurred on to do a little better work as citizens, each in his own sphere of activity. "General Wright stands for duty well done in the Philippines. He stands for those qualities of firmness, of strength, of fair dealings with all, fair play for each, according to his capacity and character which we must apply at home just as much. [Applause.] All of us should remember that the qualities which we are anxious to have the other fellow apply that we must apply ourselves. [Applause. For that reason we owe to General Wright a double debt of gratitude as Americans, debt of gratitude for the way in which he has administered the greatest of the country's dependencies which came to it as a result of the Spanish war. And, furthermore, as American citizens, we owe him a debt of gratitude for having practiced in a high position those qualities of good citizenship which each of us must practice in our several degrees if we are to make and keep this Nation what it shall be made among the nations of the earth." [Cheers and applause.]

At the conclusion of the President's remarks the entire audience 3,000 united in singing, "God be with you until we meet again.'

BANQUET AT NIGHT.

President Roosevelt Discusses Events in the Philippines.

There were two hundred guests at the banquet, the attendance being limited to that number. Governor Longino, of Mississippi, traveled from Jackson to be present. Albert S. Caldwell acted as toastmaster. The programme of toasts follows: Welcome, the toastmaster; response, Gen. Luke E. Wright; "Our Country," President Roosevelt; "The Guest of Honor," W. J. Crawford; "The Consent of the Governed," Judge H. H. Lurton; "Service and Civilization, America's Ideal," Bishop Thomas P. Gailor; "The Presidency," Alex. E. Coch-

General Wright sat on the right and President Roosevelt on the left of the toastmaster. Great enthusiasm greeted General Wright when he arose to speak. His glowing tributes to the late President McKinley and to President Roosevelt for their lofty policies in regard to the administration of the Philippines were loudly applauded. He also took occasion to laud the work of Secretary Root and said the criticism of the army and navy was unjust. There might have been isolated cases of cruelty deserving censure, but the cases were the exceptions-not the rule. On the whole, he said, the war was conducted in a most humane manner. The alleged friction between the civil and military government, he said, had been greatly exaggerated. The Filipinos, he said, could never govern themselves without being taught to do so. He thought Congress was going too fast rather than too slow. Their interests at present could be subserved by a nonpartisan administration of their affairs such as existed to-day. He said he himself did not know whether there were more Republicans or Democrats in the civil service in the islands. He said he desired to bear testimony to the fact that neither President Roosevelt nor his predecessor had attempted to dictate appointments to the civil service in

President Roosevelt received an ovation when he was introduced with the statement that he held the respect and admiration of the people of the country without regard to political affiliations. The entire assemblage arose and for fully a minute made the banquet hall ring with cheers. | reach Washington at 8 o'clock Friday He spoke as follows. "It is a real and great pleasure to come to this typical city of the southern Mississippi valley in order to greet a typical American, a citizen of Tennessee, who deserves honor not only from his State, but from the entire country-Gen. Luke E. Wright. We have a right to expect a high standard of manhood from Tennessee. It was one of the first two States created west of the Allegheny mountains, and it was in this State that the first self-governing community of American freemen was established upon waters flowing into the gulf. The pioneers of Tennessee were among the earliest in that great westward march which thrust the Nation's border across the continent to the Pacific, and it is eminently fitting that a son of Tennessee should now play so prominent a part in the further movement of expansion beyond the Pacific. There have been Presidents of the United States for but 113 years, and during sixteen of those years Tennesseeans sat in the White House, Hardihood and daring and iron resolution are of right to be expected among the sons of a State which nurtured Andrew Jackson and Sam Houston; which sent into the American navy one of the most famous fighting admirals of all time, Farragut. "There is another reason why our country should be glad that it was General Wright who rendered this service. General Wright fought with distinguished gallantry among the gallant men who served in the armies of the Confederacy during the civil war. We need no proof of the completeness of our reunion as a people. When the war with Spain came the sons of the men who wore the blue and the sons of the men who wore the gray vied with one another in the effort to get into the ranks and face a in the county jail. She denied all knowlforeign foe under the old flag that had been carried in triumph under Winfield Scott and Zachary Taylor and Andrew Jackson. It was my own good fortune to serve under that fearless fighter, old Joe Wheeler, a memory of which I shall always be proud. But if we needed any proof of the unity of our interests it would have been afforded this very year by General Wright, the ex-Confederate, in his administration as acting Governor of the Philippine islands. Upon him during the months of summer rested a heavier burden of responsibility than upon any other public servant at that particular time; and not the least of his titles to our regard is the way in which he was able to work on terms of cordial good will with the head of the army, himself a man who had honored the blue uniform as

Wright had honored the gray. GENERAL WRIGHT'S WORK. "General Wright's work has been as difficult as it was important. The events of the last four years have definitely decided that whether we wish to or not we must hereafter play a great part in the world. We cannot escape facing the duties. We may shirk them if we are built of poor stuff, or we may take hold and do them if we are fit sons of our sires-but face them we must, whether we will or not. Our duty in the Philippine islands has simply been one of the duties that thus have come upon us. We are there, and we can no more islands than we could now abandon Alaska. Whether we are glad or sorry that events forced us to go there is aside from the question; the point is that, as the inevitable result of the war with Spain, we found ourselves in the Philippines and that we could not leave the islands without dis-The islanders were wholly unfit to govern themselves, and if we had left there would have been a brief period of bloody chaos, and then some other nation would have stepped in to do the work which we had shirked. It cannot be too often repeated that there was no question that the work had to be done. All the question was, whether we would do it well or ill; and, thanks to the choice of men like Governor | N. Y.

Wright, it has been done well. The first and absolutely indispensable requisite was order-peace. The reign of lawless violence, or resistance to legitimate authority. the reign of anarchy, could no more be tolerated abroad than it could be tolerated here in our own land. ARMY DID WELL.

"The American flag stands for orderly liberty, and it stands for it abroad as it soldiers was to restore and maintain order in the islands. The army had the task to do, and it did it well and thoroughly. The fullest and heartiest praise belongs to our soldiers who in the Philippines brought to a triumphant conclusion a war, small indeed compared to the gigantic struggle in which the older men whom I am address-ing took part in the early sixties, but inconceivably harassing and difficult, because it was waged amid the pathless jungles of great tropic islands and against a foe very elusive, very treacherous and often inconceivably cruel both toward our men and toward the great numbers of peace-loving Filipinos who gladly welcomed our advent. The soldiers included both regulars and volunteers, men from the North, the South, the East and the West, men from Pennsylvania and from Tennessee, no less than men from the Rocky mountains and the Pacific slope-and to all alike we give honor, for they acted as American soldiers should act. Cruelties were committed here and there. The fact that they were committed under well-nigh intolerable provocation affords no excuse for such cruelties, nor can we admit as justification that they were retaliatory in kind. Every effort has been made to detect and punish the wrongdoers and the wrongdoing itself has been completely stopped. But these misdeeds were exceptional, and their occurrence in no wise alters the fact that the American army in the Philippines showed as a whole not only splendid soldierly qualities, but a high order of humanity in dealing with "A hundred thousand of our troops went to the Philippines. Among them were some who offended against the right. Well, are we altogether immaculate at home? I think not. I ask for no special consideration to be shown our friends and kinsmen, our sons and brothers, who during three years so well upheld the national honor in the Philippines. I ask merely that we do the same equal justice to the soldier who went abroad and faced death and lived hard as we show to his fellow who stayed at home and lived easily and in comfort; and if we show that equal justice we will doff our hats to the man who has put the whole country under obligations by the victory he helped to win in the Philip-

CIVIL ADMINISTRATION. "But the soldier's work as a soldier was not the larger part of what he did. When once the outbreak was over in any place then began the work of establishing civil his part, for the work of preparing for the over | civil authority was often done by the officers and men of the regular army, and well done, too. Then the real work of building up a system of self-government for the people who had become our wards was begun, under the auspices of the Philippine Commission, Judge Taft being made Governor, and I having had the honor myself to appoint General Wright as vice governor. During the critical period when the insurrection was ending and the time was one of transition between a state of war and a state of peace, at the time that I issued a proclamation declaring that the state of war was over and that the civil government was now in complete command, General Wright served as Governor of the archipelago. The progress of the islands both in material well-being and as regards order and justice under the administration of General Wright and his colleagues has been astounding.

"There is no question as to our not having gone far enough and fast enough in granting self-government to the Filipinos, the only possible danger has been lest we should go faster and farther than was in Each Filipino at the present day is guaranteed his life, his liberty, and the chance to pursue happiness as he wishes, so long as he does not harm his fellows, in a way which the islands have never known before during all their recorded history. There are bands of ladrones, of brigands, still in existence. Now and then they may show sporadic increase. This will be due occasionally to disaffection with some of the things that our government does which are bestfor example, the effort to quarantine from the Centrals. The scores: against the plague and to enforce pecessary sanitary precautions, gently and tactfully though it was made, produced violent hostility among some of the more ignorant natives. Again, a disease like the cattle plague may cause in some given province such want that a part of the inhabitants revert to their ancient habit of brigandage. But the islands have never been as orderly, as peaceful, or as prosperous as now; and in no other Oriental country, whether ruled by Asiatics or Europeans, is there anything approaching to the amount of individual liberty and of self-government which our rule has brought to the Filipinos. The Nation owes a great debt to the people through whom this splendid work for civilization has been achieved, and therefore on behalf of the Nation I have come here to-night to thank in your presence your fellow-townsman, because he has helped us materially to add a new page to the honor roll of American history. General Wright, I greet you, I thank you, and I wish you well." At midnight the President's party left for Washington over the Southern Railroad. Col. L. S. Brown, general agent of the Southern, was in charge of the train. No stops will be made en route. The train will

DEVELOPMENT IN THE COLORADO TRAIN ROBBERY CASE.

Hold-Up Man Who Was Shot Identified as a Coal Digger-Others Under

TRINIDAD, Col., Nov. 19.-The Colorado & Southern train robber who was shot by Express Messenger Schriber during the attempt to rob his car last night, was found near the scene of the attempted hold-up this morning with a bullet hole through his stomach. He died a short time afterward. The man refused to give his name or those of his accomplices. Letters on his person, however, led to his identification as A. E. Hudson, a Gray Creek coal miner. Alexander Clark, who is supposed to be one of the gang, was arrested as he was boarding a train here this afternoon. He stoutly affirms his innocence. Mrs. Hudson, wife of the dead robber, is confined edge of the hold-up and said her husband, accompanied by Alexander Clark, started on a hunting trip yesterday. The gun which Hudson used was found, however, under the mattress of a bed in her house, and she finally admitted it had been brought to her house about 1 o'clock this morning by Guy La Croix. Posses are now scouring the country in search of La Croix and the missing robbers. All the robbers were Gray Creek miners. A rumor at 10:30 to-night was to the effect that the remaining two robbers had been surrounded at the head of Frejolle creek. near the scene of the hold-up, and that a hard fight between the posse and rob-

PEACE PACT ARRANGED BETWEEN BASEBALL LEAGUES.

Fight Will Be Confined to Kansas City and Milwaukee-The Player Problem Solved.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19 .- A peace pact was arranged late this afternoon between the warring baseball clubs through the efforts of the arbitration board of the National Association of Minor Leagues at the Auditorium. By the terms of the truce the fight between the two clubs is confined to the two cities, Milwaukee and Kansas City, where there have been conflicts, each club to play on its own grounds in these cities. The American Association, which has been an outlaw, comes into the National Association. The proposition made by the Western League last night to the American Association that they abandon their grounds at Kansas City and play on the Western League grounds and on nonconflicting schedules was refused by the American Association to-day, and as an ultimatum an-nounced that they would play according to the proposition made by Pat Powers, of the minor leagues, in New York two weeks ago. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. FRANKLIN, Ind., Nov. 19.-Manager Jordan, of the Franklin football team, has received a challenge to play De Pauw University to settle the question as to who is entitled to the secondary championship of Indiana. Mr. Jordan refused to accept the challenge, as he has a full schedule. He further stated, however, that if De Pauw desired to count itself in the secondary class that Franklin would acknowledge her claim to the championship. When Mr. Jordan was arranging the present schedule he tried to secure a game with De Pauw then, but was unsuccessful, as it was thought that De Pauw was going into the class known as the "Big Three." At a meeting of the athletic association yesterday afternoon it was decided that Franklin would favor Rose Polytechnic being received as a member of the State Athletic Association, which is now being formed by Hanover, Wabash, Franklin and Earlham colleges. The association also voted in favor of Richmond as the place to hold the first track meet.

One of the most brilliant social features of the fall term was the reception given this evening by the Indiana Delta Chapter of Phi Delta Theta. The reception was held in the fraternity's parlors in the City Hall, which were tastefully draped and decorated with carnations, the fraternity flower. Over 250 invited guests were present. Those from out of town were: W Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Smalley, Miss Ruth Doo-little, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martin, Indianapolis; Mr. W. N. Matthews, Mrs. H. H. MICHIGAN AND MINNESOTA.

Trouble Over Changing Place Where Thanksgiving Game Is to Be Played. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 19.-The objection of the Minnesota football management to the transfer of the Thanksgiving game with Michigan from Detroit to Ann Arbor grows stronger as the matter is considered. The telegram sent by Mr. Williams, the coach, to Manager Baird, of Michigan, read as follows: "Minnesota refuses to accept Ann Arbor. You personally agreed with me on Detroit. Play there or no game. Luby (the Minnesota manager) has no authority to change this." celving Coach Williams's telegram Prof. | tle Elkin, 6 to 5. Secret Practice for the Great Deciding Game on Saturday.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 19 .- Yale's football coaches have decided to give the Yale University eleven no hard work in preparation for the final game of next Saturday, when Yale will play Harvard. To-day's work was shorter than usual and in no sense hard. There was a brief lineup, in which the regular eleven scrimmaged with the first scrub team. So far as can be learned there was no scoring in the secret practice and no attempt to do so, the plays being trick plays and formations. The remainder of the practice was night that Glass is unquestionably eligible and will be played. No message of protest has come from Harvard and none is expected.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 19.-Much encouragement for the Harvard men was found in the stiff practice of the 'varsity eleven to-day. It was the last scrimmaging before the Yale game. The men worked together as a unit and showed they are capable of better football than at any time before this season. The practice was secret. The 'varsity team was made to play exceptional fierceness, but no one was hurt. It hammered the second eleven so bad that six extra men were needed to bolster that team. The most interesting feature was the reappearance of Sugden at center, indicating that he will play in the Yale game against Holt, bringing these two men together as in their freshmen game three years ago.

WINNERS OF RUNNING RACES. Results at the Bennings, Latonia,

Lakeside and Ingleside Tracks. WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.-The track at Bennings remained in a sticky condition today and caused numerous scratches. The chief events were the Vestal stakes for three-year-olds and the Bennings special for three-year-olds and upward. The Vestal stakes was won handily by Moon Daisy, a maiden, and also the outsider in the betting. Scratches left only six starters out of an entry of eighteen for the Bennings special. This race was won by the second choice, Andy Williams, in the closest kind of a finish with Douro. Long shots captured the first two events and G. "My racing season had a number of pe culiar features; for instance, the fact that won five of the most important races on Rocksand, and that I never lost a race with him. I had almost equal success with Flotsam, on which I beat my old mount, Rocksand, in the most sensational finish of the season. By my wins of the Eclipse stake, value $50,000, on Cheers, and the Champion stakes, value $25,000, on Rabelais. both at Sandown, I hoped to make up the signal work. Shrewd Speculators See Great Possibilties for Profit in the Grain

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 .- The best posted and most conservative grain men in New York and Chicago are unanimous in the opinion that the time is ripe for a substantial advance in the price of wheat; and the increased activity in the market for the past few days shows that they are acting on their opinion. Many articles have been published supporting these opinions, the best and most comprehensive, however, is a letter just issued by the well-known house of William M. Townsend & Bro., Produce Exchange building, New York, which is a recognized the track, and it was a desperate contest authority on the consumption, production and distribution of wheat.
